Advisor

Role of Interim Advisor

Each student is assigned an interim advisor. For incoming students, your interim advisor is either one of our graduate chairs or one of the LDC faculty members. The main role of this advisor is to discuss your goals and guide you into our program by recommending courses relevant to your area(s) of interest so that you earn your degree in a timely manner. If you have a problem, you should seek the advice of your advisor.

How to Change Advisor

At some point during your first year in the program, you should find, from among the Linguistics graduate faculty, an advisor who works more closely to your area of interest. You are encouraged to switch to a faculty advisor with an area of expertise close to your own.

To do this, you first consult with your prospective new advisor. If he/she agrees, you then obtain the approval of one of the graduate chairs and notify one of the secretaries. A memo will be given to you, to your previous advisor and to your new advisor to indicate that the change was approved. From that point on, you meet with your new advisor.
Registration Approval Form

You must meet with your advisor before registering for each semester's classes. This enables your advisor to monitor your progress and to make sure you are staying on track. The department places an academic hold on your student account prior to registration to ensure that you will meet with your advisor. You will be given a registration approval form (also called a hold form) to be completed at your advising meeting and returned to the department office. Upon receipt of this form, the department secretary will release the academic hold on your account.

All holds must be cleared before you can register for classes. To check if you have any holds on your account:

- Log into MyUH.
- Select View Holds.
- The phone number of the office that placed the hold should be listed under the Originator box.
- Contact the office indicated for information about how to clear and remove the hold.
Courses

- Our Master’s program requires 30 credit hours. Specific course requirements vary for Master’s plans A and the various streams in plan B. See the appropriate section for detailed course requirements.
- Students with little or no background in linguistics are required to take Ling 320 (General Linguistics) in addition to the course requirements. This will be determined by the Graduate Chair at a student’s first advising meeting.
- All courses offered by the Department of Linguistics are one semester in duration and (with the exception of some 699 and 799 courses) involve 3 credit hours.
- The Department does not count 699 (directed reading) courses in determining your full-time status until you have completed all the course requirements for your degree.
- Audited courses are not counted in calculating the courses needed to establish full-time status.
- Courses in the 700 range (e.g., 750, 770) are seminars. Various sections of these seminars are typically offered in a given semester, depending on the interests of the faculty and students. Each semester there are normally seminars dealing with geographical areas, particular language families, the structure of individual languages, and particular theoretical problems.
- Linguistics students must take their linguistics courses for a letter grade (except for Ling 699 and 799 courses, which are always ‘credit/non-credit’).
- Students registered for GRAD 700F are considered full-time for visa and financial aid purposes.
- Students registering for LING 700 may count up to the 9 credits that are required for Plan A toward the minimum required to receive a tuition waiver. However, thesis research credits (GRAD 700F) will not count toward this minimum.
Course Exemption

There are four 400-level courses that are typically part of the MA core that students with some prior study of these areas may wish to be exempted from. These are:

- Ling 410: Articulatory Phonetics
- Ling 420: Morphology
- Ling 421: Introduction to Phonological Analysis
- Ling 422: Introduction to Grammatical Analysis

If you wish to seek exemption from any of the courses listed above, you must successfully pass a Linguistics Department exam for the relevant course, with a minimum grade of B (not B-). You must make every effort to take the exemption exam (or take the relevant course) within the first year of your program.

Each exam will be given and corrected by a member of the appropriate Area Committee, usually the faculty member who most recently taught the course. If you are attempting to place out of LING 410, LING 420, LING 421 or LING 422 you should attend the course until an exemption has been granted.

Exemption exams are held during the first week of instruction and are scheduled in two hour blocks. If you wish to take one or more of these exams, you must notify the Department secretary no later than July 15 (for Fall) and December 1 (for Spring), stating which exams you are planning to take. The secretary will then notify you of the exact exam schedule. All exemption exams must be completed no later than Wednesday of the first week of classes. You must arrange to take your exemption exams during this period.

Instructors must provide exam grades to the Graduate Chair and relevant students no later than the day before the last day to add classes. You may take any given exemption exam only once. Should you not pass an exam, you must take the relevant course at the first availability, i.e., the same semester if the course is offered (if not, the following semester).

MA students exempted from a LING 400-level course need to take another course approved by their advisor to count towards their 30 credits. The course that replaces the exempted course must be 400-level or above.

1 Policy approved by faculty on March 24, 2012 per tally by Yuko Otsuka.
Advising Record and Annual Student Evaluation

One tool to help you to track your progress towards your degree is your advising record. A copy of your latest record is placed in your student mailbox at the beginning of each Fall semester. Review it and inform the department office of any discrepancies so that they can be updated.

All-but-Thesis (ABT) students will not receive a copy of their advising record because these students have already completed all requirements except for your thesis. A copy of an MA Advising Record can be found at the end of this document.

At the end of each academic year, the Linguistics faculty holds its annual student evaluation meeting during which the progress of every student in the department is discussed. Your advisor will be provided with copies of your current advising record and a semester report of your grades. During the meeting your advising record is updated based on the completion of courses and degree requirements during the past academic year. Note is also made of exceptionally fast or slow progress.

A student with unsatisfactory progress will be contacted by his/her advisor and may be put on probation. (See probation section for more information). The student will be required to acknowledge their notification of this unsatisfactory progress by signing the Graduate Student Annual Progress Form.
Prohibition

The department policy on academic probation is under review. The policy will be published in the online student manuals as soon as it is approved.

Students may also be put on probation if they do not complete their master’s degree within five years. See section “Time Allowed for Master’s Degree Completion”.
Full-Time Status and Department Funding

MA students must be registered as full-time students for a minimum of two semesters. Full-time status is required in order to be eligible for financial assistance from the Department of Linguistics.

Towards the end of each semester, the Graduate Chair will distribute a funding report form which all continuing students are required to complete and return by the stated deadline. This form asks for your funding request, eligibility for department tuition support, and other information relevant to assigning financial support for the next semester. Filling out this report is obligatory for all students, and especially important for those seeking (or expecting) financial support from the department. Meeting with your advisor is not required, but you can meet with the Graduate Chair of Admissions if you need help to complete the form.

The minimum course load for full-time students depends in part on the type of financial support you receive from the department. Students fulfilling any one of the following requirements are considered to be full-time for visa and financial aid purposes.

- Our primary form of funding for MA students is an achievement scholarship known as a tuition waiver. In order to be eligible for this, you need to be registered for a minimum of eight (8) credits in the Department of Linguistics.
- Occasionally the department is able to offer a Graduate Assistantship to an MA student. Students receiving a GAship need to be registered for at least six (6) credits in the Department of Linguistics. Students receiving student loans from the Financial Aid Office in addition to a Graduate Assistantship need to register for at least eight (8) credits in the Department of Linguistics if you want to receive your full financial aid award; registering for six credits will result in a pro-rated award.
- Plan A students who have completed the required 9 credits of LING 700 (thesis research) can register for one credit of GRAD 700F each semester to maintain full-time status. This requires permission from the Graduate Division through a petition available on the Graduate Division’s website. After your petition is approved you can get a CRN number for the semester from the Graduate Records Office.

Exceptions may be approved by the graduate chair in cases where courses outside the department are an integral part of the student’s program.
Leave of Absence

Unless a Leave of Absence has been approved in advance, a student who fails to maintain continuous enrollment (excluding summer session) is considered to have withdrawn from the university. If you wish to take a leave of absence, you must petition to do so through the Graduate Division.

You are allowed up to one year of leave. You may take one additional year of leave for maternity or to care for an ill family member. Time on approved leave is not counted against time allowed for the completion of graduate programs. Students on approved leave do not pay tuition or fees.

Students who must maintain full-time enrollment due to their status as international students, guaranteed loan recipients, East-West Center grantees, or veterans need to obtain approval from the appropriate office(s) before requesting approval from the department’s Graduate Chair. Once all signatures have been collected, the department office will deliver the Petition for Leave of Absence form to the Graduate Records Office for final approval.

A Petition for Leave of Absence form can be downloaded from the Graduate Division’s website at http://manoa.hawaii.edu/graduate/files/forms/leave.pdf.
Time Allowed for Master’s Degree Completion

Effective Fall 2011, Master’s students are required to complete all degree requirements within seven years. Failure to complete the degree in five years will result in the student being placed on probation; all probation notices will be rescinded if the student completes the degree within seven years. Students who do not complete the degree within seven years are subject to dismissal.

If more time is needed at the end of year seven for completion of the degree due to circumstances beyond the student’s control, and the student has completed all of the degree requirements except the thesis or capstone experience, an extension may be requested from the Graduate Division.
Language Requirement

All graduate students must demonstrate competence in one language other than their native language.

You can demonstrate your language knowledge in one of three ways:

1. Pass a reading/translation test.
2. Pass a fourth semester language course (e.g., Japanese 202) with a grade of at least B.
3. Taking a placement test to demonstrate comparable knowledge.

Additional Information

- You may use English to satisfy the language requirement if it is not your native tongue; certification by the English Language Institute that you are exempt from ELI courses suffices to establish knowledge of English for this purpose. See the department secretary if you qualify to use English to meet your language requirement.
- Samples of the reading/translation tests administered by the Department of Linguistics are available to check-out from the department office.
- For French, German, Russian and Spanish, students may opt for the Graduate School Foreign Language Tests (GSFLT), provided they pay the exam fee.
- Placement tests in languages taught at the University of Hawai‘i are usually scheduled just prior to the beginning of the semester. Consult the relevant language department for information.
- Notices about language exams and scheduling of reading/translation tests are posted on a bulletin board near the departmental office.
Faculty Availability for Scheduling Meetings, Exams, and Defenses

Faculty members are for the most part working on nine-month appointments, with their on-duty period beginning on Monday of the week before the beginning of classes in August and ending on the date of the May commencement ceremonies. For that reason, thesis proposal and final defenses, and other committee meetings must be scheduled on work days inside the on-duty period.
Plans A and B

Two plans of study lead to the MA degree. The vast majority of students enrolled in the MA program opt for Plan B.

At the discretion of your department faculty/interim advisor, you may be required to take additional writing courses. A description of adequate writing skills and a list of courses and their descriptions can be found under the Adequate Writing Skills section of this document. This information is also available to download from our department website at http://www.ling.hawaii.edu/graduate/pdfs/WritingCourses.pdf.
Plan A requires a thesis, a minimum of 21 credit hours of course work, and 9 credit hours of LING 700 (Thesis Research) plus a final oral examination covering the thesis and related areas.

Course Requirements
All students in Plan A (Thesis) must complete a minimum of 30 credit hours of which 21 hours consist of course work for a grade (not CR/NCR or Audit), allocated as follows:

- four courses from the Core List (12 credits)
- four graduate-level courses (12 credits), including at least one 700-level seminar
- nine credit hours of LING 700.

Thesis Core (choose 4)
- LING 410: Articulatory Phonetics
- LING 420: Morphology
- LING 421: Introduction to Phonological Analysis
- LING 422: Introduction to Grammatical Analysis
- LING 645: The Comparative Method

Important Note: Students who are not exempted from any of the Core courses will need to earn more than 30 credit hours to complete these requirements (24 credit hours of course work and nine hours of LING 700).

Thesis Requirement
Your thesis will be supervised by your MA thesis committee, consisting of three graduate faculty members, two of whom must be from the list of faculty in the Linguistics section of the university catalog. A list of eligible committee members is available on the Graduate Division Website (http://www.hawaii.edu/graduate/wa/selectmember.php).

If you are in Plan A, you must develop a written proposal outlining your intended research project. You then meet with your committee to defend your proposal and to discuss any issues that it raises.

Additional Information
- You should consult with the Graduate Chair before forming your committee. The Graduate Chair will ask you about your preferences and advise you on the availability of various faculty members to serve on your committee.
- After your committee has been approved by the Graduate Chair, the departmental secretary will give you a form to be signed by each faculty member who agrees to serve on your committee. Most students get this form signed at their preliminary committee meeting.
- Individual faculty members vary considerably in terms of what they expect in a thesis proposal. (Some look for only a skeletal outline of the research project, while others require a considerably more detailed prospectus.) Be sure to consult your committee chair about his/her expectations.
- Once your thesis proposal has been approved by your committee, you must submit an approved copy (with your committee chair’s signature on the first page acknowledging that all revisions have been made) to the department office no later than the end of the semester following your proposal defense. This copy will be available to all faculty and MA students in the Linguistics Department.

3 Faculty unanimously approved revision at Sept 29, 2009 department meeting.

- The department office will also need a copy of your IRB human subjects’ approval/exemption. Submit this to the department office shortly after your proposal defense so it can be submitted with a form to the Graduate Division for processing.
- Once you have completed nine credits of LING 700 you can petition the Graduate Division to register for one credit of GRAD 700F (this is considered full-time status by the Graduate Division).
- When writing your Thesis, be sure to follow the Graduate Division’s Style & Policy Manual for Theses and Dissertations. This manual is downloadable from the Graduate Division’s website: http://www.hawaii.edu/graduate/download/manuals/tdstylepolicy_e.pdf.
- Be sure to consult the University Catalog and the departmental bulletin boards for deadlines involving graduation dates. You must submit a degree application by the specified deadline and pay the required fee.
- If you are not a particularly accomplished writer or if English is not your native language, it would be wise to seek help in editing and proofreading your thesis draft before submitting it to your committee. (Note: Passing the ELI exam does not necessarily indicate sufficient proficiency to produce a stylistically acceptable thesis.)
- Your committee chair will let you know when your thesis draft is nearly ready to distribute to your committee. At this point you and your chair should agree upon a timeline, keeping in mind the following three deadlines.
  - Your committee should receive your thesis at least four weeks prior to your proposed defense date. (Some flexibility in this deadline may be permitted if there is a consensus among the committee members.)
  - Your defense must be held at least two weeks prior to the Graduate Division’s deadline for submission of the final version. Check with the department office for that deadline.
  - At least 15 calendar days prior to your defense date, you must submit the department’s form “Final Oral Examination for Master’s Thesis Defense”, signed by your chair. Should your committee determine that the thesis is not defendable, the defense may be cancelled.
- A PDF version of your thesis must be submitted to the department office at least two weeks before the defense. The title page should contain a clear indication that this is a ‘pre-defense draft’.
- You must be registered for one credit of LING 700 or GRAD 700F in the semester in which you graduate.
- Once all revisions have been made and your committee chair gives final approval to your thesis, ask your chair to notify the department office. Pick up Form IV-Thesis Submission from the department office to submit with your final thesis to the Graduate Division (Records Office). The Graduate Division requires a digital copy of your thesis saved on a CD. Check with the department office for the deadline for submitting your thesis to the Graduate Division.
- A PDF version of the final approved version of your thesis must be submitted to the department office. Check with the department office for the deadline for submitting your PDF to the department office.
Plan B requires a minimum of 30 credit hours of course work plus a final project.

You may choose between three "streams": Linguistic Analysis, Experimental Linguistics, and Language Documentation and Conservation. The requirements for each stream follow.

Course Requirements

All students in Plan B (non-thesis MA) must complete 30 credit hours of course work for a letter grade (not CR/NCR or Audit), of which 18 hours must be at the 600-level or above, including a 3-credit 700-level seminar.

Linguistic Analysis Stream

10 courses which include:

- five courses from the Analysis Core (15 credits)
- four courses (12 credits) approved by your advisor, but not 699
- one 700-level seminar (3 credits)

Analysis Core (all 5 required)

- LING 410: Articulatory Phonetics
- LING 420: Morphology
- LING 421: Introduction to Phonological Analysis
- LING 422: Introduction to Grammatical Analysis
- LING 645: The Comparative Method

Final Project for Linguistic Analysis Stream:

See Research Portfolio information below.
Final Project
Language Analysis and Experimental Linguistics Streams

Seminar Presentation
If you are in the Language Analysis or the Experimental Linguistics streams you must present a seminar on a linguistic topic to fulfill your final project requirement. It should include a report on research you have conducted using methodology appropriate to the discipline. The topic, format, and venue of the seminar must be approved in advance by the Graduate Chair.

About two weeks before you plan to make your presentation, you need to pick up the necessary form from the departmental secretary. Fill out the form and return it to the secretary, who will pass it on to the Graduate Chair for approval. The departmental secretary will contact you once your form has been signed. You must then pick up the form from the department office and get the signature of a faculty member who attended your presentation to acknowledge that it was satisfactory.

Additional Information

- Many students base their seminar presentation on a research paper written in one of their courses, particularly their 700-level seminar; the research paper prepared for this course can make the basis of a fine oral presentation.
- Venues: Presentations can be made in any one of several forums including:
  - Departmental: Tuesday Seminar series, Austronesian Circle, Acquisition Group, Language Documentation Group, Psycholinguistics Interest Group (P.I.G.), Sociolinguistics Group;
  - University: LLL student conference, ESL/Linguistic student conference;
  - National conferences (e.g. LSA): Conference announcements are posted on the wall between the department office and Moore 573 (see Conferences).
- The deadline to submit your approved seminar requirement form to the department office is three weeks prior to the last day of instruction.
- It is wise to plan well ahead if you want to schedule a Departmental Tuesday Seminar time for your presentation. (Spaces can fill quickly, especially near the end of a semester.)
Final Project
Language Documentation and Conservation Stream

Research Portfolio
By the end of your final semester, in the Language Documentation and Conservation stream you must submit a Research Portfolio of at least 50 pages (1.5 line spacing, 12 point Times font, 1 inch margins) for approval by the Language Documentation and Conservation Committee.

Your portfolio should be assembled to demonstrate your accomplishments in areas related to language documentation and conservation. You could view this as a compilation of work that could be shown to a prospective employer. It should include printed-out and corrected versions of your existing work (taking account of previous feedback) compiled into a volume with a title and a table of contents. Possibilities include an outline of a reference grammar, sample dictionary entries, language policy or planning proposals, papers on phonetic, phonological, morphological, or syntactic aspects of your research language(s), etc. The deadline to submit this portfolio to the department office is three weeks prior to the last day of instruction.
Adequate Writing Skills

- Criteria for Good Writing
  - The student is able to organize her/his thoughts in a logical and coherent way.
  - The main goal is clearly stated at the beginning and returned to at the end.
  - Claims are clearly stated and explained.
  - There are clear subsections (e.g. introduction, background, data, results, discussion and conclusions).
  - Technical terms are defined appropriately for the intended audience.
  - Every generalization is supported by evidence.
  - Adequate and relevant examples are given.
  - Adequate references are given.
  - Concluding statements follow clearly from what has been presented.
  - The document has been spell-checked.
  - It is written in grammatical English.

- Students’ writing skills are discussed in the annual student review.

- A student with weak writing skills, i.e., who is unable, in the judgment of faculty members, to present his/her ideas in writing in a manner that meets the standards of professional journals in the field of study (cf. the criteria for good writing above), will be required to take a writing course from the following list.

Important Documents for Master’s Students

Along with this manual, students should also refer to the documents on the following pages to guide them through our master’s program.

- MA Advising Record – Plan A: Thesis
- MA Advising Record – Plan B: Linguistic Analysis / Experimental Linguistics / Language Documentation and Conservation Streams
- Financial Aid Policy

If you have questions regarding a degree requirement, you should first consult with your advisor. You may also need to consult with the Graduate Chair if there is something that your advisor cannot help you with.
MA Advising Record – Plan A: Thesis

Name:
UH ID #:
Semester Admitted:
Advisor:

PLAN A: Thesis

1. Be registered as a full-time student for at least two semesters.
2. Demonstrate competence in one language other than your native language.
3. Take a minimum of 21 credits for a letter grade (not CR/NC or Audit).
   - Four core courses (Core List: 410, 420, 421, 422, 645).
     - Students who are not exempted from any of the Core courses will need to earn more than 30 credit hours to complete these requirements (specifically 24 credits and nine hours of LING 700).
   - Four graduate-level courses (including a 700-level seminar) approved by your supervisor.
4. Write and defend your thesis proposal.
   - Once your proposal has been accepted, a copy must be given to the department office to keep on file. This copy will be available to all faculty and MA students in the Linguistics Department. A printed copy of your approved thesis proposal must be submitted to the department office no later than the end of the semester following your proposal defense.
5. Give the Department office a copy of your IRB human subject’s approval/exemption. This should be done shortly after your thesis proposal defense. It is sent along with a form to the Graduate Division. After processing, the department office will give you the CRN to register for LING 700.
6. Write your thesis (9 credits of LING 700).
   - If you have not completed your thesis by the time you have taken the required 9 credits of LING 700, you can register for one credit of GRAD 700F per semester and this will allow you to maintain your full-time status (if you are a foreign or financial-aid student). In order to do this, you must download a petition form from the Graduate Division website. After your petition is approved, you can get a CRN number for the semester from the Graduate Division (Records Office).
7. Your committee chair will let you know when your thesis draft is nearly ready to distribute to your committee. At this point you and your chair should agree upon a timeline, keeping in mind the following three deadlines.
   - Your committee should receive your thesis at least four weeks prior to your proposed defense date. (Some flexibility in this deadline may be permitted if there is a consensus among the committee members.)
   - Your defense must be held at least two weeks prior to the Graduate Division’s deadline for submission of the final version. Check with the department office for that deadline.
   - At least 15 calendar days prior to your defense date, you must submit the department’s form “Final Oral Examination for Master’s Thesis Defense”, signed by your chair. Should the committee determine that the thesis is not defendable, the defense may be cancelled and a notification will be sent to the Graduate Division.
8. Submit a PDF version of your thesis at least 2 weeks prior to the defense. The title page should contain a clear indication that this is a ‘pre-defense draft’.
10. Once all revisions have been made and your committee chair approves your thesis, ask your chair to notify the department office.
    - You need to pick up Form IV – Thesis Submission from the department office to submit with your final thesis to the Graduate Division (Records Office). The Graduate Division requires a digital copy of your thesis saved on a CD.
11. Submit a PDF version of your final approved thesis to the department office.

Coursework - 21 credit hours of coursework (with at least 12 credit hours at 600-level or above) + 9 credits hours of LING 700 (thesis).

Students who are not exempted from any of the core courses may need to earn more than 30 credit hours to complete the coursework requirements.

Required Courses:

Four of five listed courses are required for MA Thesis.

*Possible exemption by exam for LING 410, 420, 421, and 422.
